Failed requests	0 in the cleaned log (see Data cleaning)

How we tested

- Live system. Testers used the public web page (https://wazobiaassist.github.io) and the Telegram bot (@WazobiaAssist_bot), both answered by N-ATLaS on one GPU server. Nothing was staged or simulated.
- Recruitment. Team members shared the links in WhatsApp groups, family and campus networks with step-by-step instructions, asking people to ask real questions in their own language, preferably by voice, and to rate each answer.
- Consent and privacy. Every user sees a privacy notice before the first question. Users are stored only as a salted hash of their channel id; phone, account and ID numbers are masked before saving; voice notes are deleted after transcription; anyone can send DELETE to erase their data.
- Logging. Every question is logged automatically with the user's words, the N-ATLaS English translation, the topic, the answer, the response time and the user's rating. The full log of this test is Appendix A.
- Team questions excluded. Questions the team asked while building were removed before the export.

Who used it

Language	Questions	Voice	Text	Users
Yorùbá	73	63	10	19
English	58	26	32	14
Hausa	37	34	3	7
Igbo	2	1	1	2

31 people asked between 1 and 28 questions each (median 4). 19 of them came back for at least three questions.

What they asked

Topic	Questions	Example (N-ATLaS English translation)
Health	39	“How do I protect myself from malaria?”
ID and voting	34	“How can I register for a voter's card?”
Off-topic	30	“What is the latest political news in Nigeria this month?”
Money and scams	25	“Someone says CBN is giving grants if I pay a fee. Is it real?”
Farming	14	“What is the best time to plant corn?”
Rights and laws	9	“can police arrest me for my brother's debt?”
General knowledge	9	“Who is the President of Nigeria?”
NAFDAC products	8	“Is Emzor paracetamol registered?”
School and exams	2	“How can I register for a scholarship?”

Off-topic questions (for example about current politics) get a polite reply listing what WazobiaAssist covers, instead of a guess.

How well it worked

- Ratings. 38 of 39 rated answers were marked helpful (97.4%). The one 👎 was "Who is the president?", which N-ATLaS answered from its own memory with the United States president. Asked about Nigeria's president, it usually named Bola Tinubu, but once named Muhammadu Buhari. This is why general-knowledge answers are always labelled "not from an official source, may be out of date"; questions on government services, health, money and the law are answered only from official sources.
- Speed. Typed questions were answered in a median of 1.4 seconds. Voice notes took a median of 18.8 seconds, most of it speech recognition; this is the main thing to speed up before launch.
- Languages. Voice was the most used way to ask in Hausa and Yorùbá: 34 of 37 Hausa and 63 of 73 Yorùbá questions were voice notes. Igbo had few testers in this round and is the first gap to close.

Problems found during testing, and fixed

Testing on 12 October showed three problems. Each was fixed the same day and is in the code repository.

Problem seen in the log	Fix
A user picked English but typed in Hausa, so the question was not translated first	The language a question is written in is now detected and used (`app/langdetect.py`)
Quick taps on the web microphone sent empty recordings (4 failed requests)	The web page ignores recordings shorter than one second and asks the user to try again
Noisy Hausa voice notes came out as one word repeated, and the bot still answered	Such voice notes now get "please record again in a quiet place" in the user's language, and are not answered

Data cleaning

The raw log has 185 interactions from 32 users. 15 were removed before this report: the 4 empty web recordings and 11 voice notes the speech model could not make out (one word repeated, for example from background noise), all from before the fixes above. Removing them lowers the number of interactions; it does not change the ratings, because none of them was rated.

Appendix A: Session log

Every interaction in the cleaned log, in order. Times are West Africa Time. User is the start of the anonymous hash, so repeat visits by the same person can be followed. User's words is what they typed, or what the NCAIR speech model heard; N-ATLaS English is the translation N-ATLaS made before answering. Long questions are shortened. The full log, including every answer, is in `interactions.csv`.
